

CGS – CIG Special Workshop
Connecting Your DNA Matches
Friday, 13 April 2018

The Colorado Genealogical Society and the CGS-Computer Interest Group are pleased to announce that Diahana Southard, Your DNA Guide, will present a special workshop on Friday 13 April 2018, 2 - 4:30 pm, Lower Level Conference Center, Denver Public Library, 10 W 14th Ave Pkwy, Denver, CO. The materials fee for this fun, hands-on class is only $25.

Diahana will present Connecting Your DNA Matches -- this hands-on workshop will help you analyze your DNA results. While it is possible for you to analyze your DNA matches one at a time to determine how you are related, there is much that can be accomplished by first identifying the connections between those on your match list, organizing those matches, and then working together to determine how you are related to each other. Learn the tips and tricks to this powerful method of match analysis.

After her lecture, attendees will complete a case study using a 10 page workbook. No personal test results or logins are needed. No need to bring a laptop.

Diahana will work with attendees to complete the case study. Registration will be limited to 40 attendees.

To register go to <https://www.yourdnaguide.com/denverworkshop>

For more information contact Sandy Ronayne -- sandyronayne@comcast.net or Kelly Glenn -- skellyglenn@comcast.net and visit CGS and CIG on the web and Facebook

<http://cogensoc.us>

<http://cigcolorado.org/>